

DAMP

DAMP is short for the medical term, Deficits in Attention, Motor control and Perception.

DAMP is the co-existence of ADHD and dyspraxia (developmental coordination disorder). It means having some, or all, of the ADHD characteristics as well as having motor difficulties (dyspraxia). In addition, there will frequently be problems with language, perception and features of autism.

Some core symptoms of DAMP

- Coordination deficits
- Inattentiveness
- Deficits in sensory perception
- Deficits in handwriting and other precise motor functions

http://www.mindroom.org/index.php/learning_difficulties